THE question of comfortable heating, and at the same time thoroughly ventilating buildings, is a continually recurring question for learned discussion. It has come up again in New York in connection with the proposed rebuilding of Bellevue Hospital. Dr. Crosby thinks the best method is to furnish the heat from coils of steam pipes in the cellar, from which the heated air should be sent up through registers opening in the tops of the rooms. The ventilation, he says, should be effected at the bottom of the room. Another learned man says that the old-fashioned fireplaces were the best means, both of heating and ventilating, ever in use, and is of opinion that our modern conveniences are shortening our lives. Those who would have their days long in the land will, therefore, have those big chimneys and wide fireplaces put in their houses, but they must expect to pay for the luxury of long life, for back-logs and their appurtenances are expensive in great cities in these days. —Boston Globe.

A PRODIGY.—The Mexico (Mo.) Intelligencer says: "There is a little girl, 9 years old, in Pike county, by the name of Sarah J. Clithero, who is a most remarkable child. Her mother died four months ago, and left a family of seven children. Sarah, being the eldest girl in the family, has been keeping house for her father and taking care of the younger children ever since. She recently made a pair of pants for her father without assistance from any one, and did the job as well as many women could have done it. She has also made a coat for her older brother, besides various other garments for the younger children. She is a beautiful child—modest, and unusually quiet in her demeanor. She is a model.

THE Amazon transcends in length, breadth and magnificence the Mississippi, the Nile and the Yangtse. It is about 4,000 miles in its extreme length, and 180 miles wide at its mouth.—35 miles inland its width is ten miles, and at a distance of 2,800 miles from its mouth it measures 500 yards in width. The soil is unexcelled in fertility. It abounds in caoutchouc, cocoa, Brazil nuts, hides, sarsaparilla and other medical drugs and roots, which can be utilized to supply the world. Cotton is indigenous to the soil and climate, and can supply an unlimited quantity.

THE FAMOUS COW.—A correspondent of the Roman Citizen (Rome, N. Y.,) writes as follows of a visit to New York: "I visited the upper farm of Senator Campbell, to see the choice cattle which Colonel Morris, of New York, has sent up there to be wintered; and among them is the famous $40,000 cow, recently sold to an Englishman, and which was repurchased by Mr. Morris. The cattle are in the care of Mr. Graham, an efficient herdsman. Mr. Morris purchased the Campbell cow at $30,000. He has others worth from $10,000 to $20,000."

A report of the pork-packing in the West for the present season is to-day published in the Daily Commercial Bulletin, showing that the number of hogs packed sums up 5,204,345, against 5,526,640 last season. The average weight this season is 151 pounds, against 166 pounds last season. The decrease in the total weight as compared with last season is 116,466,145 pounds. The yield of lard is 175,043,385 pounds, or 33 pounds per hog, being a decrease of 46,022,215 pounds as compared with the yield last season. The above figures are compiled from returns from 389 points.

There are a good many people whose hostility to capital punishment is about as earnest as that of a Western editor, who after reciting the details of a poisoning case, concludes as follows: "We do not believe in inflicting the death penalty; yet, when we think of a man so utterly depraved that he would administer poison, as in this instance, we would not raise much fuss if he was hung twice."

A Paris correspondent, who it is safe to wager is a horrid man, says it is a current joke there that no titled person may be too old or ugly or impoverished but that he may hope to pick up an American girl who will give heaps of dollars to become Madame la Duchesse or Madame la Baronne. He has probably been reading up Sardou.

The fellow who wanted to cross the Mississippi river on the ice, and fearing that it was too thin, began to crawl over on his hands and knees, dragging a skiff after him as a self-preserver in case of accident, felt very sick when, just as he was nearly across and all tired out, a fellow passed him with a sled loaded with pig-iron.—Chicago Post.

A boy was passing through the cars on the Erie railroad, the other morning, with an illustrated copy of "Nothing to Wear." A lady remarked, "I suppose that takes off the ladies?" "No," said a gentleman, "it takes off their dresses." Then," rejoined the lady, "it is quite proper a stripling should sell it."

Monday Evening, Jan. 26.

MAYOR COLVIN, whose election to the Mayoralty of Chicago, a few months ago, was regarded as the inauguration of a sort of political millennium, is already at war with his supporters, who begin heartily to wish him out of the position

THE English Parliament has been dissolved by royal decree The trouble is that neither Liberals nor Tories are able to organize a successful Ministry, and it is expected that a new election all around will mend matters Gladstone asks his constituents to re elect him

THE Kankakee Gazette expresses the following opinion in reference to railroad schedules

It would undoubtedly be the better way to enact these schedules into a law The railroads will probably bitterly oppose any rates not established by themselves, and one point of attack upon the schedules prepared by the commissioners, will be the want of power of the legislature to delegate to the commissioners what the constitution expressly assigns to the legislature This point can be saved by the legislature adopting the work of the commissioners, as it adopts the work of one of its own committees

THE Memphis Appeal says "Nearly two thousand citizens of Memphis have passed away from earth since the yellow fever began its death work in September last Think of this army of nearly two thousand men and women, varied here and there with little children, sent to their long account They were strong in health and full of life and hope four months ago They might have been saved The homes that have been darkened by their deaths, and hearts that still ache for the never returning light of their smiles and the sweetness of their love, might still be bright and happy with their living presence The widows and orphans that mourn for them, as only the poor can mourn that have been cast upon the charity of strangers and the short-lived benevolence of a world too busy to remember them to-morrow might have had their natural protectors to-day, winning for them their bread A fearful responsibility rests somewhere."

LONDON, Jan 24 —The Times this morning commenting on the address of Mr Gladstone announcing the dissolution of Parliament, says "The document reflects the characteristics of the genius of its author and doubts the repeal of the income tax promised" The Post says "The address at most amounts to a coup d'etat"

The Standard is confident of a conservative majority in the elections, and severely condemns the suddenness of the announcement of the dissolution

All the journals agree on the popularity of the financial measures promised in the address

The address of Gladstone announcing the dissolution of Parliament, flattens the market for English securities

It is said a sister of Whalley has paid the fine imposed upon him by Chief Justice Cockburn

Leicester Square has been presented to the city of London, and is to be preserved as an ornamental park

CHARLESTON, ILL Jan. 24 —Last night, between 10 and 11 o'clock, Gage and Chilton' flouring mill located near the depot in this city, was entirely destroyed by fire, together with all it contained, except the books of the firm. The mill was a three story brick building, and worth, including the machinery, at least $40,000 It was insured for $25,000 In the mill there was a large amount of flour, grain, meal etc, valued at $12,000 or $15,000, which was insured for $15,000 — The origin of the fire is unknown but is supposed to have been the friction of the machinery in the third story — This morning the walls have principally fallen, and men are at work in the debris taking out the boilers, engines, etc It is not yet known that the mill will be rebuilt, if not the loss will be one that will be long felt by the people of Charleston and Coles county

WASHINGTON, Jan 25 —The President is preparing a message which he will send to Congress after first submitting it to the Cabinet in which he will make a plain but elaborate statement of facts in connection with Federal proceedings in Louisiana, in support of the decision of the United States Courts there The President is opposed to any legislation by Congress ordering a new election in Louisiana, though he has no hesitation in saying there is no doubt but that the late election in Louisiana was an organized fraud from beginning to end for the benefit of those now in possession of the government of that State, and that there has never yet been a fair account of votes, that results have been reached by dishonest men, to well known to be respected Still it is his opinion, as recently privately expressed, that Congress has no more right to order a new election in Louisiana than it has in any other State because of a local conflict, all the States now being equal in the Union, and as much entitled to the same general protection from illegal or unconstitutional interference by any branch of the Federal Government as they are against invasion

TREES FOR SHELTER

EDITORS REPUBLICAN — These are blustery times, especially to all those who have homes on the wide prairies Although this winter is the main, so far, has been a mild one, yet there are winds and storms quite enough to remind us of the necessity of shade and shelter, also of the importance of a few sticks of wood, posts or poles close at hand Such thoughts as these lead us to the old talked of subject of tree planting on our prairie farms There have been volumes written on this subject, and yet comparatively little actual planting has been done, and why? People generally do that which seems to be needed worst first, and then that which seems to pay best next Now the way this subject has been presented has had something to do with this I mean the right tree has not had its claims urged, and in the right spirit We want a tree or plant that possesses at least the main good points for its object, and we would classify these points about as follows

1st, It must transplant successfully, and be readily got at a low price per thousand

2d, It must be of a sufficienlyt rapid growth so as to come on and be of service to the planter,

3d, The wood when grown must be lasting and valuable for fuel, fencing or other purposes

These are indispensible qualifications, and to be wanting in either renders a serious objection to the general use of any tree If it lacks the first we will never begin, or if we muster up courage and funds enough and try once, and a bad season or a little negligence follows, we utterly fail, and will not try again

If it lacks in the second point, very few will ever get ready soon enough in life for it to do them any good and we are not yet educated up to the point of working for future generations well enough to be induced to commence

If it wants on the third qualification, though perhaps the least, it cuts off seriously in a pay point of view, for our profits are reduced at least one half

There are also other points we would be glad, if possible, to have, although of minor importance yet very desirable and useful, such as not to be easily destroyed by the tramping browsing gnawing etc, of stock, not easily destroyed by drouth, storms [illegible] not subject to the attacks of insects worms, etc, hardy, and reasonably long lived

We will notice and compare briefly some of the most prominently advocated trees for public favor and it will appear more plain how hard it is to select one with all the good points centered together And foremost, of recent introduction stands the European Larch a growthy, very durable timber, but also only those killed in handling trees will be successful in transplanting it Consequently it is wanting in the first and greatest qualification, and cannot become a general favorite

Next to this comes the Sweet Chestnut and the Evergreens to which the same objections apply I would here remark that these sorts, being mainly in the hands of a few men their claims have been urged on the people to a great extent, in order to create a market for their trees

Next we would mention the maples, of which there are several sorts, the Black Walnut, Willows, Poplar etc What I fail to mention you can think of, and apply to them these three primary rules or tests, and try their merits thereby and if they are wanting in either, discard them, for there is one that I am going to speak of by and by that does, in my mind, possess all these qualifications in a very high degree, besides nearly all the minor objections are removed too It has already been worth its thousands to the prairie farmers of Illinois and other prairie regions, and I think it may be said of it, like the Queen of Sheba said of Solomon, "The half has not been told" I propose to say something of this tree in my next

Yours truly, A TREE PLANTER

BLOOMINGTON, ILL, Jan 24 —The following is a brief statement of the issues involved in the impending troubles on the Lafayette Bloomington and Mississippi Road The various counties and towns which appear on the list of stockholders of the road subscribed in aid of the road various sums, amounting in all to $467,000, for which they received certificates of stock Since that time the stock of the road has been copiously "watered," and mortgages placed upon it The increase of the stock, in all, amounts to $533,000 It is alleged, and the new Board declare they can prove, that this amount of stock is fictitious and never cost the holders anything It is a fact that the owners of this stock have ignored the rights of the county and township stock, and being in the majority have controlled the road Upon the validity of 5,330 shares of stock, then, this entire case turns, for it was by a vote of this that the Toledo board was elected, if we concede that the election was a legal one It is claimed that it was the intention of the Toledo Board to render this bona fide stock valueless and Attorney Sample state that the officers of the Toledo road informed him that it was not now worth a dollar The new board propose to show that the only bona fide stock is that which they represent and that the lease to the Toledo Road is in direct violation of the laws of Illinois If this bona fide stock is not worth a dollar, it is high time the people should know why

Destructive Fire at Charleston Illinois

SPRINGFIELD ILL, January 24 — In the Senate a bill entitled "An act to authorize the Legislative authority of any incorporated city in this State to sell parks or any other public grounds, or lands belonging to any such city, or any part of the same which may have become the property of such city by purchase or otherwise" was introduced a few days ago by Mr Murphy An examination of the bill this morning reveals the fact that Mr McGrath is probably the author of it As its purposes are just what its title would indicate it is of [illegible] to Chicago It is doubtless a [illegible] Lake front bill, but without the objectionable machinery attached to the original bill

Senate bill No 118 came up again the regular order and was amended upon motion of Mr McGrath so that any person [illegible] for the purpose of prostitution [illegible] shall be subject to the severest penalties of those who keep them

HOUSE

In the House Mr Jones introduced a bill amending section [illegible] of the railroad law of 1871 The amendment [illegible] freight coming from another State into this or going from the State into another from the operation of the railroad law, removing its interference with inter State commerce

Mr Hunt presented a petition from citizens of LaSalle county, asking for a postponement of the collection of taxes

The bill on county and township organization was amended to prohibit the erection of county buildings except upon a vote of the people The bill was ordered to a third reading

House bill No 598 for the collection of wages, was read a third time and passed —ayes 71 nays 12

House bill No 721 providing for the appointment of collectors in incorporated cities and counties under township organization, was ordered to a third reading

Mr Bronson, from the committee on State Institutions reported back the bill appropriating $15,000 for the Northern Insane Asylum, and recommended its passage Referred to the committee on appropriations

The experts who have been called by the House committee to examine into the cost of the State agricultural report are divided on the question One says that the price paid for printing is $10 higher than it should be, and the other says it is $30 under the contract prices for doing the work The binding was 57 cents a volume and this is said to be too much The committee have their investigation well along

Bills read a third time Revision, No 292 concerning, [illegible] ayes 101, nays 156

Regarding practice in courts of record —ayes 99 nays 2

Bills introduced By Mr Incore, appropriating $60,000 for the Southern Insane Asylum

By Mr Warner making an appropriation of $500 for the widow of Nehemiah Pierce the late delegate to the International Prison Congress at London Sent to the committee on appropriations

The committee on printing were instructed to inquire into the cost and amount paid for copying the laws and Mr Wood presented a memorial from the Board of Supervisors of Champaign county, asking for a repeal of the extended jurisdiction of county courts

Mr Steele's amendment was adopted as follows "Section 3 Whoever contracts to have, or give to himself, or another, the option to sell or buy, at a future time, any grain or other commodity, the stock of any railroad or other company, or gold or forestalls the market by spreading false rumors to influence the price of commodities therein or corners the market, or attempts to do so, in relation to any such commodities, shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $1,000, or be confined in the county jail not exceeding one year, or both, and all contracts made in violation of this section shall be considered gambling contracts, and shall be void"

WASHINGTON, Jan 25 —Dispatches from Mt Airy, N C, say Dr Wm Hollingsworth who attended the Siamese twins, is of the opinion that the death of Eng was not caused by any vital connection of an artery passing from one to the other through the ligament that united them, because he had attended the twins when one was sick and the other was well, and when there was as much as twenty beats in a minute difference in their pulse

The bodies after being embalmed were placed in a coffin and encased in a large tin box which was soldered and made air tight, all of which was then put in a large wooden box and packed in charcoal, made secure and placed in the cellar of a house It is reported the bodies were to be disposed of at an enormous price to some museum or medical college, or placed on exhibition This is to be subject to the decision of the members of the family

The charge is made that a veil of mystery has been thrown over the death of the twins, and the real cause of the decease was suppressed for the purpose of obtaining possession of the bodies for the above stated object A dispatch from Greensboro, says Joe Hollingworth, brother of the Dr who attended the twins, while enroute for the north stated that his mission was to dispose of the dead bodies of the twins on the most favorable terms he could negotiate The sum asked for the privilege of a post mortem examination is stated to be from $8,000 to 10,000

...Mrs. Victoria Woodhull at the Opera House to night.

...On Saturday Mr. Henry Flood, living a few miles northeast of town, shipped 40 head of cattle from Decatur, over the I., B. & W. Railroad, to Pittsburg Pa. This is the first shipment of stock from this county over that line of road; though a large amount of grain has gone over it to eastern markets.

...The leading question in Paris, Ill., for the past week has been, "Where are the Decatur boys now?" Who takes, eh?

...Mrs Victoria C. Woodhull and her daughter, and Miss Tennie C. Claflin, are stopping at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

...This is the last week of this term of circuit court.

...The weather remains too mild for making ice.

...The roads in the country are beginning to wear smooth. A few days without rain will make them quite passable.

...The Local Review informs the people that the post office is soon to be removed to the opera house block.

...L. N. Clark, the photographer, is making splendid pictures.

Mrs. Scott Siddons.—This lady, under the auspices of the Ladies Library Association, will give select readings and recitations at the Opera House, on Saturday evening Jan. 31st. As the ladies have taken the responsibility of giving our citizens an opportunity to hear this celebrated reader none should fail to improve it. Another chance may not offer for years, if ever, to enjoy so rare a treat. This is probably the only entertainment that the association will offer the people this season, employing foreign talent, and the house should be crowded.

The doors will be opened at 7½ o'clock, but the readings will not begin until half past eight, so as to accommodate business men who are often detained later than usual on Saturday evenings. The price of tickets has been fixed at 75 cents for the parquette and 50 cents for the gallery. Reserved seats may be secured at Abbott's without extra charge.

Disgraceful Rowdyism.—We are informed by Mr. F. J. Taylor, that on Saturday night last three or four human beings, who call themselves young men, and who belong to respectable families in town, stopped in front of his house in a beastly state of intoxication, and indulged in language terribly profane and obscene, raising their voices to so high a pitch as to be distinctly heard by the ladies inside. The language used was such as decency forbids us to repeat, but suffice it to say that it was vile enough to chill the blood of any decent human being, and mantle the face of a devil with shame. Mr. Taylor happened to be absent at the time, otherwise they would have been turned over to the police. Some of our young men seem to be lost to all shame, and no lan uage is too vile for them to use, and no practice too filthy for them to indulge in.

A New Daily.—We are in receipt of the first number of the Tuscola Daily Journal, a very neat five column sheet, of which the proprietors and the town may very justly be proud, if its future issues make as creditable appearance as does this. This number puts the people of Tuscola upon a three months probation, promising to visit them for that length of time sure, and if they behave well in the matter of bestowing patronage, to continue its visits to them ad infinitum. We hope the citizens of Tuscola will give the enterprise the encouragement which it deserves.

Neidermyer has a full supply of choice vegetables which he is selling at bottom prices.

THE I., B. & W. R. R.

The Monticello and Decatur branch of the I., B. & W. R. R. is now doing a prosperous business, considering the many difficulties that it has labored under, which are generally incident to all new roads. The passenger car which is attached to the freight train, which passes over the road daily, is almost invarably filled, both going out and coming in; and the freight business has also been quite large. The stations between here and Monticello are Oreana, Argenta, Cisco and Alerton; all of them are expecting to do big things in the line of building when spring opens. At Oreana the Messrs. Haworths, of this city, are kept quite busy handling grain. At Argenta, the station one mile from Newburg, Mr. Wm. Ellis, formerly of Blue Mound, and an old grain operator, has his scale house built in fine shape, and is already doing a prosperous business, Mr. Ellis also has errected a fine new store house which will soon be occupied with a stock of groceries. Other merchants are expecting to locate at Argenta and build soon, and we expect to see a prosperous village at this place as the surrounding country is very thickly settled. Mr. Griffin is interested in the town plat and is an enterprising young man. Cisco, the next station, is also a good point. Samuel Bunn has opened a store here and expects to do a large business. A large amount of grain is accumulated here. Allerton, the next station, is so named after the Allerton boys who are famed for their large operations; their farm here consists of 3000 acres in a fine state of cultivation. A large hay press is going up at the station, and in the distance can be seen the derrick, under which is being sunk an artesian well. Mr. Allerton hopes to secure by this a large supply of water for his numerous cattle.

This line of railway, when the station houses are built and trains get to running on regular time, will be of great advantage to the northeast portion of our county. The accommodation train is in charge of Mr. B. A. Sallsbury, who knows how to run a train. Mr. Thompson is the agent of the above road, and is as clever a gentleman as one often sees. We learn that a passenger train will soon be run and a regular mail route established; when this is done it will be the best route to Chicago from this city. We hope soon to chronicle the building of a depot by this company, after which it will be fully prepared for business.

Rolling Mill Sunday School.—This institution is in a highly prosperous condition, under the superintendency of Capt. Ira Harris On yesterday there were about a hundred and forty present, and we understand that the average is about a hundred and ten This school is doing a good work in that part of town.

Remember those nice California figs at the gem store.

Victoria C. Woodhull.—We clip the following from the Council Bluffs, (Iowa), Daily Globe.

Rich in wit, logic and pathos, strong in argument and pointed in application, her discourse was listened to with the closest and most respectful attention, and not unfrequently applauded. Warming up with her subject, with a flushed face and in an earnest and caustic manner, she reviewed the present administration and arraigned it for its numerous crimes. She asserted among other things that money from the treasury in Washington had been used to influence the elections in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in 1872, and that if Jesus Christ himself had been running against Useless S Grant, he would have been beaten. Her handling of the mock religious of the day was done without gloves. Hypocrisy, cant and boastful pretensions were the subjects at which her swiftest and most pointed shafts of ridicule were hurled. In her hands irony, satire and sarcasm are no mean weapons, and right nobly did she employ them in the enforcement of what all were constrained to admit to be the truth.

The following is from the Springfield Journal of this morning:

Though perhaps her audience at the Opera House was not as large last night as it would have been had she not been prevented by a railroad accident from fulfilling her engagement the previous evening, still there were few empty seats, and the audience, whether drawn by curiosity or whatever motive, was a most respectable one and very attentive.

Previous to the lecture a young daughter of Mrs. Woodhull recited, in a manner giving evidence of elocutionary training, a poem of considerable merit, which met with decided favor.

Immediately afterward Mrs. Woodhull appeared. She is decidedly attractive appearing, and in the delivery of her lecture was natural, perfectly self-possessed, and at times especially earnest. The opening part of the lecture was devoted to a discussion of the subject of political reform, and while, of course, taking exceptions to her ultra views, in some respects, it must be confessed that there was much said that is commendable in the highest degree.—She arraigned much of the hypocrisy of the day in terms severe and scathing, and her protest against latter day shams, though terrific, was generally endorsed by her hearers. Discussing the social question she advocated the observance of the oft neglected Greek maxim, "Know thyself." She earnestly insisted upon the necessity of truth and knowledge between mothers and their offspring, as calculated to prevent much of the crime, prostitution and misery of the present day. This subject she handled without gloves, and while earnestly protesting against prudery, and the false modesty or delicacy which prevents parents from adequately preparing their children to meet and combat the trials of life, her remarks were none too forcible, but on the contrary, timely; and so regarded by her auditors.

Mrs. Woodhull told a great many truths concerning the male prostitutes, whom she insisted should be punished equally with the females, and this sentiment was vigorously applauded. To those who look at nature squarely, and are not averse to plain speaking upon a subject of importance, there was nothing said, which those who fear not plain blunt English, would blush to hear. Whatever else may be said of Mrs. Woodhull and her advanced ideas, as a lecturer she is a success. She has a fine voice, is eloquent, and her elocutionary powers are very superior.

THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

We have seldom seen so lovely a day in mid winter as was yesterday. In the early morning the air was somewhat sharp, but the bright sun soon toned it down, so that when the church bells rang, it was mild and agreeable.

Large congregations gathered at all the churches both morning and evening.

At the Presbyterian church Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, of Elgin, filled the pulpit, and preached in the morning from the words, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" The sermon was a most masterly and eloquent specimen of the minister's skill as a word-painter, and although it abounded in the most beautiful imagery the speaker never lost sight of his subject, but wove in his applications most admirably. In the evening he preached a fine discourse on "Christian Unity." The church was well filled at both the morning and evening services, and the congregation evidently appreciated the sermons.

At the First M. E. Church quarterly meeting services were held, Rev. Mr. Prentiss, presiding elder, officiating, and administering the communion at the close of the morning sermon. In the evening he preached a telling discourse from the words, "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone." The congregation was large both morning and evening.

At the Baptist church, on account of the pastor being somewhat indisposed, Rev. Mr. Platt preached in the morning, but in the evening the pastor resumed his post, preaching a fine discourse from the words "Our Father which art in Heaven." The house was crowded both morning and evening.

At St. John's Episcopal Church the congregations were good, both morning and evening. The morning discourse was from the words in Matthew, 2.10, "When they saw the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy." The sermon was highly interesting and instructive. The Christmas decorations yet remain in the church and give it a cheerful appearance.

At the Bethel their enlarged and improved church was well filled throughout the day, and in the evening the pastor delivered the concluding lecture of a series on the return and conversion of the Jews. Some of the positions taken in the lecture were peculiar, but perhaps tenable. The speaker evidently believed every word he said, and the lecture was earnest and able.

The interest at the United Brethren church remains unabated. Their house was well filled both parts of the day.

The services at Stapp's Chapel were of a very interesting character; three were added to the Church, and the congregations were large throughout the day. The Sunday School mustered 310. There will be services in the lecture room each evening this week, to which all are invited.

To New Orleans.—We have been shown a letter, directed to Mr G. P. Miller, containing information to the effect that on account of the festival called Mardi Gras, which occurs on the 17th of February, and is celebrated with great eclat in New Orleans, tickets from St. Louis to that place and return, good until March first, may be had for $33 over the Iron Mountain Railroad. As a matter of information this may be of service to some of our people who would like to visit the Crescent City this winter.

Personal.—Mr John A. Lehman leaves to night for Pennsylvania, where he proposes to take a look at the scenes of his boyhood after an absence of about sixteen years. He will be away about four or five weeks.

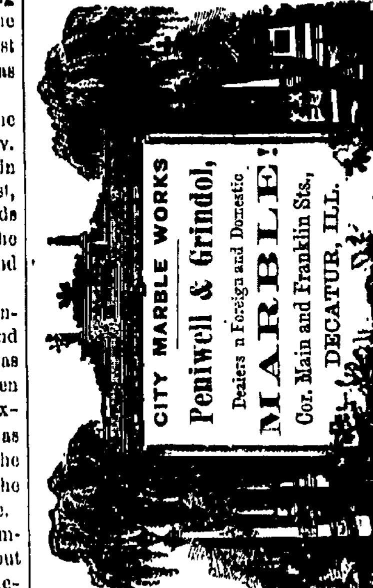

Godey Shoaff put in an appearance at our office to day. Paris agrees with him, judging from appearance.

Arrested for forgery.—On Saturday John Simonds having a desire to raise a little money without working for it, forged a note for fifty dollars, signing the name of John M. Moffitt, and drew the money at J. Millikin & Co's. bank. Mr. Moffitt happening into the bank soon after the money was drawn, was asked if it was all right. He disowned the signature; whereupon Marshal Haworth was at once put upon Simonds track and soon had him in custody.

CONSUMPTION !

AND ITS CURE!

Victims of this awful disease are found in every neighborhood, in almost every house. For them and for their friends, we have tidings of good cheer and hope—the announcement of a most important discovery, firmly based upon common sense and reason, by which the terrible malady is positively controlled, and its victims are restored to health.

WILSON'S

Carbolated Cod Liver Oil

Is not a secret empirical nostrum. It is a happy combination of two remedies known to physicians everywhere as the best means of combating consumption. This combination is Mr. Willson's discovery, and is founded upon the following

SOUND REASONING.

Consumption is decay. Soothing, expectorant remedies are only useful as palliatives, they do not reach the cause—they do not stop the decay. Tonic medicines strengthen the life forces and prolong the battle, but the decay goes steadily on, and sooner or later the victim must yield. Climatic changes are sometimes good, but they seldom wholly cure. In short, the very first thing to be done is to stop the decay, then apply the restorative, tonic and strength giving treatment. Think a moment. The lungs are decaying—tubercles, ulcerations cavities and deposits of poisonous matter are forming. The circulation carries this poison all over the body. Wasting loss of appetite, enervation, night sweats, and all the terrible symptoms appear, is it worth while to doctor the symptoms which are merely the results, while the decay, which is the cause, is eating up the life springs?

These two things are well known by the best physicians:

1st, Carbolic acid positively arrests Decay It is the most powerful antiseptic in the known world. Even dead bodies are preserved by it. Entering into the circulation, it at once grapples with corruption, and decay ceases. It purifies the sources of disease.

2d. Cod Liver Oil is Nature's best assistant in resisting Consumption. It is at once a food, a tonic, a purifier, and a healer. It braces up and supplies the vital forces feeds the wasted system, and enables nature to regain her foothold. For these purposes nothing can compare with Cod Liver Oil This is the theory of

CARBOLATED COD LIVER OIL,

As described fully in the inventor's circular, which will be mailed, upon application, to any address.

We cannot afford space to tell the whole story here, or to give the numerous certificates from eminent physicians and well known citizens testifying to the absolutely wonderful results flowing from this great discovery. Suffice it to say, it is curing thousands who supposed themselves to be at death's door.

Willson's Carbolated Oil is scientifically prepared with the purest Carbolic Acid, so combined as to be entirely harmless, with from the celebrated fisheries at Aalesund (Norway), pronounced by physicians the most delicate, efficient Cod Liver Oil in the world.

It is easily taken, tolerated by the weakest stomachs, digests readily, never becomes rancid, and is almost entirely free from the usual disagreeable characteristics of Cod Liver Oil.

For every use of Cod Liver Oil Mr. Willson's discovery is of the greatest value.

For the safe internal administration of Carbolic Acid, Mr. Willson's method of combining it with Cod Liver Oil is absolutely necessary.

WILLSON'S

Carbolated Cod Liver Oil!

Is a Specific and Radical Cure for

CONSUMPTION

And Scrofulous Diseases.

Remember the name, "Willson's Carbolated Cod Liver Oil" It comes in large wedge-shaped bottles, bearing the inventor's signature, and is sold by the best druggists.
